Goldwater Relaxes In His Hilltop Desert Home While Republicans Are Seething Over "Extremism" Remark

By WALTER R. MEARS
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater relaxes today in the hilltop desert home he loves while Republicans seethe with debate and discord over their presidential nominee's defense of extremism in the cause of freedom.

Aides said Goldwater was expected to conduct one bit of business: a formal withdrawal of his bid for Senate renomination now that he has won top spot on the Republican ticket.

The conservative senator flew from San Francisco Friday night to a triumphant homecoming in his native city. About 3,000 persons cheered the state's first presidential nominee.

GOP BOILING

Goldwater left in San Francisco a boiling GOP feud over a remark he uttered in accepting the nomination Thursday night - a remark he underscored Friday in these words: "Extremism is no sin if you are engaged in the defense of freedom."

Before the Republican National Convention's windup session, Goldwater declared: "I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

SHARP RETORT

The remark brought a swift, sharp retort from an old campaign foe, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller - took what he considers extreme steps "when defending our freedoms."

Charles H. Percy, the GOP candidate for governor of Illinois, called for an explanation from the nominee.

And Goldwater apparently discussed the statement during a half-hour talk in San Francisco with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Goldwater aides said Eisenhower sought the meeting.

BARRY SNAPS BACK

Dean Burch, swiftly approved by the GOP National Committee as Goldwater's choice to take over its reins, said the senator had told Eisenhower he was "rather extremist" when as a general he launched the Allied invasion of Europe in 1944.

Snapping back at Rockefeller, Goldwater said several American presidents—George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—took what he considers extreme steps "when defending our freedoms."

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John Raffensperger Jr., Danbury, Conn., announce the birth of a daughter Friday. This is their third child, two boys and a girl. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Raffensperger, Chambersburg St.,

Court Action Taken To Effect Payment

Walter J. Hamm, East Berlin R. 1, has brought an action in assumpsit in Adams County court against Norman B. and Freda O. Lockamy, New Oxford R. 1, alleging they owe him $743.76 for excavation and grading work done by Hamm at the Lockamys' drive-in restaurant on New Oxford R. 1.

The complaint in the case was filed in the prothonotary's office by Attorney Ronald J. Hagarman and follows the dismissal by the court of a mechanic's lien brought by Hamm against Mr. and Mrs. Lockamy.

In dismissing the mechanic's lien the court held that state law permits only those engaged in actual building construction to bring mechanic's liens and noted that an action in assumpsit could be started.

COUNTY YOUTH REPORTS ON 4-H PROGRAM

The five delegates from Adams County to the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course at the national 4-H Center at Washington will return Sunday from the week-long program in which they are participating with similar groups from Colorado, Connecticut, Maine, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Adams County's delegates are David Almoney, New Oxford R. 2; Lynn Galusha, Bendersville; Edward Bentzel, Hanover R. 1; Donald Bair, Littlestown R. 2; and Alice Hikes, York Springs R. 2.

David Almoney sent the following report on the sessions earlier this week.

ORIENTATION

"On Sunday evening an orientation to the Short Course was held. The assembly rooms and dining rooms are named after states that contributed money or furnishings to the project. A movie 'Welcome to Washington,' was part of the program. A get-acquainted party was also held.

"On Monday, discussion groups for the entire week were set up. Dr. Charles Freeman, program director, outlined the objectives of the program simply by saying, 'The participants would learn the meaning of citizenship, learn how democracy operated, help us to deepen our commitment to the democratic way of life, develop skills for practicing citizenship in our local 4-H Clubs and/or young citizen.'

"On Monday afternoon we went back to the earliest days of our nation as we visited Mount Vernon. George Washington is best known as the father of our nation, but he was also a farmer who loved his land. The evidence of the way of life in his day was so apparent in our visit.

VISIT MEMORIAL

"On our return to Washington we visited Jefferson Memorial. Thomas Jefferson, a versatile man, who was also a farmer, developed our representative government. Many photos were taken of new friends at this impressive monument.

"Problems will occur to the best planned field trips. Our bus stopped in mid-traffic. The Colorado delegation offered to take us aboard while our bus was repaired. The blending of song while we returned for supper was most impressive. Many fine friendships were started.

"The evening ended with a stimulating demonstration of 'Developing Confidence' by consultant, Miss Dorothy Emerson. "Each evening ends with an inspirational portion called, 'Thoughts for the Day,' and a state huddle."

JAYCEES TO CO-SPONSOR YOUTH EVENT

Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce will again cosponsor an annual "Punt, Pass and Kick" youth program and award prizes to youngsters participating in the athletic events.

The decision was reached Friday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the state Jaycees held in the Gettysburg College Student Union Building as the opening of the July meeting of the board of directors of the state Jaycees.

Marty Morehead of the Ford Co., cosponsor of the youth program, met with the executive committee to ask the Jaycees to continue the program. The executive committee quickly gave its approval. Last year, first year for the competition, the Littlestown and Gettysburg Jaycees sponsored punt-pass-kick programs with their local Ford dealers.

ROSEN HONORED

Richard Merk, Williamsport, past president of the state Jaycees, announced to the executive committee that Morton Rosen, Harrisburg, state president of the Jaycees, who last year served as national director for Area 4 of the Jaycees - the area in which Adams County is located and for which Richard Selby, Littlestown, this year is national director - has been named by the national Jaycees as one of the "Ten Outstanding National Directors in the U.S." for his work in that post last year.

Two bids for the July, 1965, board meeting will be placed before the sessions Sunday morning for decision by the 500 Jaycees expected here by that time. One bid is to be presented by the Upper Merion and Great Valley Jaycees jointly. The other bid will be by Hazleton Jaycees. COUNTY BOARD TO SIGN VOTERS AT THREE FAIRS

Adams County commissioners, by a 2 to 0 vote Friday afternoon, decided to have registrars sit at the Adams County Fair, the Kingsdale Firemen's Fair and the South Mountain Fair to register voters prior to the presidential election this November.

The registrars will sit from 6 to 10 o'clock each evening of the expositions, according to the vote Friday at which Commissioners Alcee F. Rebert and Harrison G. Fair voted for the proposals while Commissioner G. Edwin Motter was not listed as voting.

KLUNK PROPOSAL

Democratic County Chairman Fred G. Klunk had presented the suggestion that registrars sit at the fairs to the commissioners some time ago, holding that a great many people who would not go out of their way to visit the courthouse, or various places where traveling registrars ordinarily sit, might register to vote if they happen to be at a fair and find a registration desk there. He held that in various counties shopping centers and other places where large numbers of people congregate were used as registration centers a lot of new voters were secured.

County Republican Chairman Clark Spence opposed the idea. Officials at the three fairs promised space for the registrars at no cost. No statement was made Friday whether special registrars will be hired by the county to sit at the fairs to accept the registrations. Commissioners Fair and Rebert indicated they will serve as registrars at least a large part of the time.

The county has never previously arranged for registrations at fairs and the commissioners voting for it held that this year's special registration at the fairs is "an experiment."

WOMEN TO HOLD BIBLE SESSION

The National Federation of Virginia Asher Business Women Bible Councils will conduct a conference next week at Gettysburg College.

PRISON CARE IN WORKHOUSE IS INCREASED

The cost of living continues to rise for prisoners sent to the Allegheny County Workhouse, the Adams County commissioners learned Friday morning.

Before them for their signature was the contract with Allegheny County for the next six months for prisoners from Adams County. The cost per day per prisoner has been raised from $4.55 to $4.98.

Accompanying the new contract was the bill for the 1,324 man days put in at the workhouse by Adams County prisoners during the first half of the year. The bill for $6,024.29, based on the $4.55 rate, was for time spent there by 10 men sentenced to the workhouse by the county court. Seven of the men are still confined.

Cost of caring for county children under the Child Welfare Services is also increasing, the commissioners learned, because the number of children under care has increased. The report of Miss Dorothy Curtis, welfare director, showed 119 currently under the county care compared to 114 a month ago, and to about 99 at the beginning of the year. During the last six months six new children were added to the rolls while one was discharged. The 119 currently cared for represent 16 families. Ninety-five are under direct supervision and 24, who are institutions, under indirect care.

The bills approved by the commissioners Friday morning totaled $17,596.

SCOUTS JAM PARK CENTER

Hundreds of Boy Scouts, enroute to the Jamboree at Valley Forge, literally took over the National Park Visitor Center Wednesday noon, according to Dr. Harry Pfantz, chief historian. Pfantz reported he received a call from the information desk requesting assistance in handling a group of Boy Scouts who were entering the Center at that time. Upon his arrival he found it almost impossible to move about as brown-suited Boy Scouts jammed every available inch of space, jamming the auditorium, ramp, exhibit area, overlook at the top of the building, with still more on the walks leading to the Center.

Dr. Pfantz mentioned that the Scouts were well supervised and well-behaved.

Robert Osborn, park ranger, reported there were 60 buses on the field Wednesday, the largest number for a single day since early May when school groups visited here.

'M'HALE' STAR RECALLS FIRST DRAMA EFFORT

By TIM CONWAY
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of the questions television columnists always ask is "What was your most embarrassing moment?" I've had my share, especially since becoming involved with the "McHale's Navy" gang.

But after more or less sober reflection, I think the topper was what my good friend Ernie Anderson and I refer to as "the hair job."

Ernie and I had worked together for three years at KYW-TV in Cleveland—he as staff announcer and I as director of promotion spots. On the side we wrote comedy-type commercials, but most of our time was spent in telling each other that the public deserved to see us on our own show.

Auditioned program

Finally, we got a program developed and ready — we thought — for an audition. We were working for Channel 3, so we shrewdly approached Channel 5 with our idea. We figured that if Channel 3 heard about it and fired us, Channel 5 would hire us out of sympathy.

The format was a 15-minute hand puppet show with snappy jokes. We set up the audition for a Friday at 5 o'clock, wrote a seven-page script, and rehearsed it for a week. But we didn't rehearse with puppets. We couldn't afford them.

At last the big day came. Ernie and I prepared to make history. There was no stage for the puppet show, so we draped a tablecloth over two chairs and sat on the floor. For puppets, we glued hair on the backs of our hands and drew eyes on our fingers.

At 5 o'clock we were joined by one tired cameraman, unhappy about working overtime, and five ad agency men, disgruntled about working martini time.

Hand problems

With the seven pages of script joining us on the floor, our hands stretched above our heads, we set out to convulse our audience. However, since we hadn't rehearsed our "hand" puppets, unforeseen problems came up. They happened all at once, but in the interest of clarity I'll list them numerically:

1. Since we had all four hands in the air we discovered—at the end of the first page—that there was no way to turn the pages. After a moment of panic, I sucked up a page with my mouth and blew it away. This didn't help the delivery of the comedy line I was involved in at the moment.

2. For men in our physical condition, it was cruel and unusual punishment to keep hands over our heads after the first 20 minutes.

BOMB BARELY MISSES WIFE OF PREMIER

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—A terrorist bomb in this British colony seething with racial violence barely missed injuring the American-born wife of leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan Friday.

Mrs. Janet Jagan, a controversial political power in her own right, was reported about 100 feet from the blast but was not harmed.

The bomb was left by a man in the headquarters of Jagan's ruling People's Progressive Party. A party newspaper said Michael Forde, a party worker, was killed trying to get the bomb out of the building.

Rips out wall

He got as far as a hallway when the bomb exploded, ripping out a wall.

Another man was killed by a bomb a half mile away at the trading headquarters of the British Guiana Import-Export Corp. (Gimpey). He was identified as Edward Griffith.

The blasts injured 13 persons. Eight were hospitalized.

Police used tear gas to disperse crowds around the party headquarters. Extra security measures were clamped on Georgetown.

The party paper said the blasts were part of the racial terrorism that has killed 120 persons in British Guiana in the last five months.

Labor dispute

The bloodshed grew out of a drawn-out sugar cane workers labor dispute dividing Guiana's 290,000 East Indians and 300,000 Negroes on racial lines.

When the blasts occurred, Jagan, an East Indian, was meeting nearby with Negro opposition leaders in an attempt to ease the tensions.

Mrs. Jagan, 43, the former Janet Rosenberg of Chicago, directed Guiana's police force as home minister in her Marxist husband's cabinet until she resigned June 1. She is the mother of two.

EXPECT GOOD FRUIT CROPS

Good prospects for all major fruits in the state were indicated today by the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service in its monthly farm report. A good seed in nearly all areas with virtually no freeze damage promises above average production for apples, peaches, pears, sweet and sour cherries and grapes.

The crop report noted also: The outlook for most field crops was reduced by subnormal rainfall in May and June.

Corn planted for all purposes is estimated at 1,204,000 acres, the same as in 1963. Based on July 1 indications a yield of 60 bushels per acre is expected. This would be seven bushels above last year, but below the 1958-62 average.

WHEAT HARVEST

The wheat harvest will total 482,000 acres, down one per cent from last year. Yield at 31 bushels per acre is one-half bushel above 1963. Barley, at 156,000 acres, is down 12 per cent from 1963. An estimated yield of 43 bushels is expected as compared to 38 bushels in 1963. The acreage of oats for harvest as grain is estimated at 577,000 acres or two per cent below last year. A yield of 46 bushels is expected, nine bushels below the 1963 record. Rye, with 16,000 acres for harvest as gain, is down six per cent from 1963.

Acreage in hay is estimated at 2,150,000 or two per cent above last year and the five-year average. Expected production (3,415,000 tons) is six per cent above 1963's poor crop but nine per cent below average. Dry weather and weevil gave alfalfa stands a damaging blow and affected yield of early cuttings.

SUMMER POTATOES
Harvest of an estimated 3,600 acres of late summer potatoes, an increase of nine per cent over last year, is now starting.

Tobacco yields on 26,000 acres, or 1,000 below 1963, was estimated at 1,850 pounds per acre, the same as a year ago, but 89 pounds above the five-year average.

Truax Pledges State GOP Will Back Goldwater Drive

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican State Chairman Craig Truax promises an "aggressive and enthusiastic" campaign on the part of Pennsylvania Republicans for presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, despite differences in philosophy.

Following the lead of Gov. William W. Scranton who was defeated in his efforts to stop the Arizona senator, Truax said Friday in a statement "Goldwater supporters enthusiastically asked for our support and they will get it."

Scranton was the first to call for unity in a speech Wednesday night after his defeat at the GOP national convention in San Francisco.

"We emerge from this convention in San Francisco as an enthusiastic and united Republican party," said Truax. "The Pennsylvania delegation was continually in the spotlight and its members brought great credit to their Commonwealth."

WORK FOR VICTORY

"Much of the preparation and planning for the November election is already accomplished," he added. "We must move now to complement these preparations and to act for victory in November."

Some Pennsylvania delegates however are deeply concerned about the task of winning the state for Goldwater. Many view the task as all but impossible.

There also is the possibility, some may change allegiance and others may support only the state ticket.

TAYLOR SEES DEFEAT

State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, one of the Pennsylvania delegates and a veteran politician, has said he expects a Goldwater ticket to be defeated in Pennsylvania.

He said such a ticket could cost Republicans control of the state House of Representatives and could jeopardize U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott's bid for reelection.

Several weeks ago, Scott, who was Scranton's floor manager, indicated that if Goldwater were the nominee, Scott might run on his own record in the Senate.

There is also some concern about Goldwater campaigning in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh this fall because of the possibility of demonstrations resulting from Goldwater's opposition to the civil rights law.

Each city has a very high percentage of its population in minority groups, particularly Negroes. And Philadelphia is near Chester and Folcroft, scene of several violent civil rights demonstrations.

DELEGATION REACTION

The Pennsylvania delegation reaction to Goldwater's acceptance speech Thursday night, for the most part, reportedly ranged from resentment to disappointment.

Some delegates were described as boiling mad, but unwilling to say anything for the record because they will be expected to help elect Goldwater in November.

The part of Goldwater's speech that apparently irked some of the Pennsylvania delegates said: "Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. Moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Scranton called the acceptance address "a very strong speech." But turned aside questions about Goldwater's statement that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice."

Darkness Halts New Oxford Game

The New Oxford American Legion team posted a 7-5 win over West York, Friday evening in a York County Legion Baseball League contest. The game was called at the end of six due to darkness.

After taking a 4-2 lead, the winners added security runs in the fifth on a triple by John Harner, and singles by McKim and Phiel and a pair of fielder's choice plays.

McKim topped the winners with a trio of safeties while winning hurler Harner allowed 10 well-distributed hits.

New Oxford is currently tied for third place with a 3-2 record. The team will journey to Glen Rock for another engagement this afternoon.

Littlestown Little League

Steve Duttrier was the big gun as he pitched and batted the Orioles to a 12-1 win over the Pirates, Friday evening. The win keeps the Orioles in a slim first place by one half a game.

Duttrier traveled the six frames on the mound and fanned 10 batters, walked seven and allowed but one hit. The only base knock off the Orioles hurler was a single by Jay Beamer in the third. Duttrier also gave the winners a boost at the plate by belting a perfect four for four including three singles and a double.

The Orioles tallied nine runs in the top of the third inning to ice the verdict. The scores came on four hits, three walks and a costly Pirate miscue.

Orioles — 009 210—12 10 0
Pirates — 011 000—2 1 3
Orioles — Steve Duttrier and John Roser; Pirates — Barry Sentz, Don Staub (5) and Dan Brown.

The Goldwater Story

By ROB WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A friend once said of Barry Goldwater: "He does everything the hard way. In baseball he even batted crosshanded."

Politics didn't change Goldwater. After his election to the Senate in 1952 it didn't take him long to raise the nation's blood pressure.

Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, said publicly: "Goldwater is the nation's No. 1 political fanatic, labor baiter and peddler of class hatred."

A high ranking military commander once said privately: "Barry Goldwater may be the only man who can lead this nation out of the mess in which it is trapped."

LOOKED LIKE LEADER

Before he had completed his first Senate term, Goldwater had become the recognized leader of the conservative cause.

He is 6 feet, weighs an unchanging 185, has curly salt-and-pepper hair, a jutting jaw and an outdoorsman's tan.

He has expensive tastes, as proven by his home atop a hill overlooking Phoenix, equipped with electronic gadgets.

Next to his desk is a VHF radio that provides weather reports. He can press a button and a movie screen rolls down from the ceiling of the study. His lawn-sprinkling system is electronically operated and the sound of a miniature waterfall in his garden is piped over his hi-fi system. One bathroom is papered with snapshots taken by the senator.

SOME ANSWERS

How was this man created? The past holds some answers.

His grandfather, Michael Goldwasser, one of 22 children, escaped the horrors of the ghettos and oppressive anti-Semitic laws of his native Konin, Poland, in 1848.

His travels carried him to Paris, to England, to New York and finally to the gold fields of California. He prospected the streams and the mountains until he opened a saloon, a venture that ultimately resulted in the Goldwater department store empire of Arizona. Big Mike believed anyone could be a success in the United States if he had guts and a willingness to work.

FROM ILLINOIS

Barry Goldwater's mother came to Arizona from Illinois in 1909 at the age of 25 with a doctor's word still fresh in her mind: She had tuberculosis and only six months to live. At the age of 89, Josephine Goldwater watched her son nominated as Republican presidential candidate Wednesday night.

She often told her son: "Don't enter a race you can't win. If you lose don't tell me about it."

From the time Barry was a toddler, his mother took him with brother Bob and sister Carolyn to the U.S. Indian school some two miles from the old family home in Phoenix. They made the trip daily, in rain, wind or scorching Arizona heat.

They went to see the flag ceremonies. Barry would stand at attention as Old Glory slid down the flagpole and hold that position until the last strains of "The Star Spangled Banner."

SCHOOLS NEPHEW

Barry's uncle Mike, a Democrat and a political conservative, schooled his nephew in the ways of politics. And he told him repeatedly that if a man's belief in an issue was firm and honest, he should stay with it no matter what the odds, nor how heavy the criticism.

From the grandfather, the uncle and mother came the shaping of an Arizona senator.

On an April morning in 1957, Goldwater refused a luncheon invitation from President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Goldwater was putting the final touches on a speech blasting the GOP administration when the President called with the invitation. Goldwater decided it wouldn't be fair to dine with the President, then blast him verbally on the senate floor.

DISMAL FUTURE

That day Goldwater said, "It is disillusioning to see the Republican party plunging headlong into the same dismal state experienced by the traditional democratic principles of Jefferson and Jackson during the days of the New Deal and Fair Deal."

"To hear a president tell us, as Mr. Eisenhower told the Washington Conference of the Advertising Council, that we must educate Americans to a need for federal aid to domestic schools, welfare, and health programs astounds me. Mr. President, every item in the federal budget can, and must, be reduced."

From then, Barry Goldwater traveled his own route, a road of conservatism that steadily attracted new followers.

Members of the ancient English cult of Druids gather near the Tower of London dressed in white robes and hoods to celebrate the arrival of spring. They join hands and scatter seeds, forsythia blooms, and cider on the ground to honor the sun.

SHEPPARD TO WED DIVORCEE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Convicted wife-slayer Dr. Sam Sheppard and his fiancée rolled quietly into Chicago late Friday night in a new yellow limousine just hours after he was released from the Ohio Penitentiary.

The Chicago Tribune said the osteopathic surgeon, free on $10,000 bond, would be married later today to statuesque Ariane Tebbenjohanns, the German divorcee he became engaged to while in prison.

CLAIM INNOCENCE

A Tribune reporter accompanied the couple on the drive from Columbus, Ohio. They left that city after Sheppard's release from the penitentiary. He had been in prison nearly nine years for the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn, in 1954. He has claimed he is innocent of the crime.

As Mrs. Tebbenjohanns' auto pulled away from a Columbus motel, Dr. Sheppard called out that they would marry "as soon as possible."

Once in Chicago, Sheppard, 40, and his blonde fiancée, 35, were taken to the Tribune Tower, where they posed for pictures.

TWO HIDEAWAYS

The newspaper said Sheppard and Mrs. Tebbenjohanns were taken to separate hideaways until the wedding, at an undisclosed place.

The romance began nearly five years ago. Mrs. Tebbenjohanns came to stay in the United States a year ago from her native Dusseldorf.

Mrs. Tebbenjohanns became interested in the Sheppard case and in 1959 wrote the family that she believed Sheppard is innocent.

The doctor is free on order of a U.S. district court judge who held Wednesday that Sheppard didn't get a fair trial when convicted of second-degree murder in Cleveland in 1954.

However, a U.S. court of appeals later issued a stay that overruled the order which permitted Sheppard's freedom, but did not call for his rearrest.

Authorities are expected to file a motion to return Sheppard to prison.

per man for unloading its cargo of 32,436 tons of grain, or 50 cents per cargo ton. Fertig chose the $3 per man rate.

This apparently displeased Soviet authorities, and the dispute was referred to the Soviet Ministry of Merchant Marine in Moscow. It ruled that the dispute be arbitrated and that the Katingo be permitted to leave after discharging its cargo.

LEAVES PORT

The local authorities refused, however, to clear the ship, and it left Wednesday without permission.

According to the captain's report, the ship was pursued by a Soviet patrol boat flying international signals with orders to return. When it "failed to heed the order, a Soviet naval craft fired three rounds across the bow of the ship," the State Department said.

After a search the Soviets forced the captain to pay a $500 (about $55) fine and permitted him to continue to Istanbul.

The ship, owned by Nautilus Petroleum Carriers Corp. of New York City, carried a cargo loaded in Canada but owned by Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis.

COURT TO HEAR RIGHTS CHARGES

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A three-judge federal court takes up again Monday a charge that an Atlanta restaurant owner has violated the new Civil Rights Act.

At the same time, the court ponders a motel owner's request that the government be prohibited from enforcing the act.

The court heard charges and counter-charges in the cases Friday in the first legal tests of the act.

In one case, brought by three Negroes and joined in by the government against the Atlanta restaurant owner, Lester Maddox, attorneys presented 19 witnesses in an attempt to prove that Maddox is guilty of violating the act.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor James H. J. Tate said at a news conference Friday, Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate for President, will lose Philadelphia by 300,000 votes. In 1960 the late President John F. Kennedy had a plurality of more than 330,000. Tate is a Democrat.

Legion Installs New Commander

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion wound up its four-day convention today with the election and installation of Monroe R. Bethman, a Doylestown businessman, as the new commander.

Bethman was nominated unanimously Friday after Daniel E. Kimmel, of Tower City, Schuylkill County, withdrew as a candidate. Bethman, a veteran of the Pacific campaign in World War II, succeeds Regis F. Cusick Jr., of Pittsburgh.

The new commander said he wants to build membership in and to alert the people of the the Pennsylvania Department state to the threat of communism.

At the same time Friday Walter E. Alessandrini, state attorney general, was re-elected to his fifth consecutive two-year term as national executive committeeman.

CANCEL PACT AMONG SCHOOL SUPPLY FIRMS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Eleven school supply firms in northeastern United States have agreed to discontinue any pact among themselves on prices, bids and allocation of territories to companies.

The firms Friday signed a consent agreement that ended civil action by the government alleging bid rigging and price fixing. Eight of the firms and 11 of their officials were fined a total of $132,000 on Feb. 14, 1963, on antitrust charges brought by the justice department.

AGREEMENT SIGNED

U.S. District Judge Harold K. Wood Friday signed the agreement with the following firms: J. L. Hammett Co., Cambridge, Mass.; Kurtz Brothers, Clearfield; Kurtz Brothers, eastern division, Inc., Paoli; A and C Co., Baltimore, Md.; Paul M. Adams Co., Baltimore; Bardeen's Inc., Syracuse, N.Y.; Garrett-Buchanan Co., Philadelphia; L. B. Herr and Son, Lancaster; Peckham, Little and Co., Inc., Jersey City, N.J.; Roberts and Meck, Inc., Harrisburg; and Webster Paper and Supply Co., Inc., Albany, N.Y.

In another suit still pending, the Philadelphia school district asked district court last May 12 to rule against the firms, asking treble damages and listing purchases of more than $10 million. The suit accused the firms of bid rigging and control of prices in the Philadelphia area in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Venerable John D. McCarty, who has been associated with the National Council of the Episcopal Church in New York, will take over Sept. 1 as archdeacon of the Episcopal Diocese of Pennsylvania. His appointment was announced Friday by the Right Rev. Robert L. DeWitt, bishop of the Pennsylvania diocese. He will be the first archdeacon the diocese has had since 1941.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rabies, a relatively rare but dreaded disease, has become a hardcore problem for the U.S. Public Health Service for two reasons: too little knowledge and too many carriers among wildlife.

For years, cats and dogs were the chief concern of rabies watchers. In the last year or two, however, rabies has been brought well under control in domesticated animals.

This leaves the health service with a major snag—rabies wildlife.

The service's communicable disease center here reports that the appearance of rabies in animals is running 18 per cent ahead of last year. Through mid-June, 2,216 cases had been reported compared with 1,871 for the same period of 1963.

RABIES OUTBREAKS

The increase is due exclusively to rabies outbreaks in wildlife, according to Dr. Robert G. Scholtens, head of the center's Zoonoses surveillance unit. Zoonoses is a term for diseases which can occur in both man and animals.

"Our only tool for control here is trapping the wildlife, but this is not really effective," Scholtens says. "It just eases our conscience that we are doing something." Rabies is a virus disease which attacks the nervous system.

If a person is suspected of having been bitten by a rabid animal, Scholtens says, doctors don't waste time testing him to see if he has the disease. They pump Louis Pasteur's vaccine, or a modern version of it, into the suspected victim by means of a psychologically jarring 14-day series of daily injections through the stomach wall.

In an average year, 30,000 people undergo this experience, Scholtens says.

If rabies could be controlled in animals, then it could be eradicated, the research notes, and once eradicated there would be no need to use the vaccine in animal bite cases.

A group here may be close to purifying the rabies virus for the first time. Once this is done, scientists can explore precisely what effect the virus has on the key genetic structures of living cells, he says.

The number of rabies cases in domesticated animals each year has steadily dropped over the last decade from 8,000 to about 600. During the same period, rabies in wild animals has been increasing from 700 to nearly 3,000 cases a year. Since 1960, wild animals have had the greater number of cases, the health service reports.

ANIMAL TESTS

The traditional animal hosts for rabies are dogs, foxes and skunks. In recent years, however, CDC has added raccoons and bats to the list.

If it could be definitely established that some animal — the opossum, for example — carried the disease and spread it without itself becoming diseased, scientists then would have a vital clue toward understanding rabies.

The identification of a host would go a long way toward explaining the persistent nature of rabies, Scholtens says.

The father gave away the bride in ancient Egypt. He handed one of her sandals to the groom, signifying she was now in the groom's care. Today, friends tie old shoes to the car in which the newly married pair leaves for the honeymoon.

Miss Franco Resigns From
GHS Faculty: Miss C. Miriam Franco, 17 N. Washington St., has submitted her resignation as Spanish and French instructor at the Gettysburg High School, Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent of schools, told members of the Gettysburg School Board Tuesday evening.

Miss Franco is a graduate of Gettysburg College. Her letter of resignation did not state her plans for the future.

Honor Youth For Service As Projectionist: Hugh M. McElhenny, 15-year-old Gettysburg High School student was commended and presented with a wallet for services the past several years as County Home film projectionist at a meeting of the Home Auxiliary Thursday afternoon in the Administration Building.

Mrs. Blaine Hughes, publicity chairman, reported that the commendation sent to McElhenny stated: "In recognition of your faithful service as projectionist at the County Home, the auxiliary wishes you to have this small token of appreciation. The joy you have brought is immeasurable."

"Prospecting" Is Undertaken Again In Stone Jug, Hunters-town Areas: The one time "copper mining belt" of the county — from Stone Jug to the Hunters-town area — continues to attract prospectors who believe there may possibly be sufficient mineral content there to warrant mining now.

A Carlisle concern, the Ridge Creek Gas and Oil Co., is the latest to investigate the area. B. H. Snyder, president of the concern, and E. M. Gutshall, its secretary-treasurer, have secured a number of leases which permit them to make core-drillings and other investigations and which will permit them to remove the mineral content of the farms involved if sufficient quantity of materials is found to warrant mining.

Copper, tin and similar materials which once were mined back around the turn of the century in the section are being sought by the men, they told persons on whose farms they have carried out drilling operations to obtain samples of the soil.

Most of the properties on which leases have been secured are in the Stone Jug and Hunters-town areas. The leases cover about 800 acres of land.

Wib Geiselman Is Official Name: There is now, officially, a "Wib" Geiselman.

Wilbur A. Geiselman, Baltimore St., local mail carrier, former clerk of the courts has been nicknamed "Wib" for years, and is generally known by that name.

When his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Geiselman, 1233 Logan Rd., York, became parents of a son this month, their third child, they made sure that there would be a "Wib" Geiselman to carry on that name. They named the youngster James Wib.

Engaged: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hahn, Emmitsburg R. 3, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carrie Marie, to William David Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steward Boyd, Gettysburg R. 1.

Miss Hahn will be a senior student at the Lutheran Hospital of Maryland School of Nursing, Baltimore, this year. No date has been set for the wedding.

Today's Talk

REMEMBERED BEAUTY

The more we train our sense of beauty, the more alert it is to beauty, the more alert it is to every new form of beauty. And the longer does everything of beauty that we observe stay with us, as almost imperishable pictures. Pictures to be recalled from time to time, freshening and fragrant memory itself.

A love of beauty is a precious inheritance, and to a lesser or greater degree it is the inheritance of us all. But it is like everything else that we inherit, we must increase its growth in us, develop it, and make it serve our happiness more and more. We carry around with us wherever we go to a great gallery and remembered scenes. Never does a thing of beauty quite leave us. There is always something that we have unconsciously clung to, as though naturally akin to us.

After having become thoroughly acquainted with a famous painting, for example, in many a reproduction, we are given the opportunity of viewing the genuine original — and there see all the matchless colors created, and somehow we scend the soul of the painter. This is what we carry away with us.

It is the remembered beauty in the lives and characters of those whom we have loved and lost that remains with us, hovering about us like a halo and following us like a shadow, freshly drenched in the sunlight.

The remembered days of youth, with all their exciting adventures, especially those that concerned the country and nature, stay by us all the days of our lives. The beauty of their experience is forever returning to put color and hope and promise into our days of autumn.

Most of our personal associations are very brief indeed. We must get our honey quickly, like the fleet little hummingbird, snatching it here and there, but often returning to the same place for more! This small creature remembers where beauty and honey thrive!

WOMEN WHO BAIT FISH HOOKS

With rather dubious eyes I look
On women who can bait a hook
And never squeal or never squirm
Impaling minnow or a worm.

A minnow, slippery and cold,
Seems such a slimy thing to hold
That I've the ancient notion it's
A job to give a woman fits.

I know there's many a girl who can Bait hooks as well as any man,
But just the same I seem to feel
That angle worms should make her squeal.

I do not criticize the kind
Of maid who man's work doesn't mind,
I'm just old-fashioned and I look
Surprised to see one bait a hook.

Housewife, Mother Of 3, Says She Is Daughter Of Late President Harding

By DAVE SMITH

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaessing, 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton.

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said. "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

CLOSE FRIENDS

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaessing living in this suburban community. Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaessing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaessing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. senator, was 53, married, childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willis. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willis. "I had no children, and that way we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

Mrs. Blaessing recalls: "My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaessing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

"I had a normal childhood," she says, "but then, I didn't go around telling people about it."

"I do recall that when she (her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaessing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaessings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaessing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaessing says, only her closest friends and a few members of the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't known.

STUART RAPS 2 2-RUN HOMERS FRIDAY NIGHT

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Dick Stuart has been eased out and shut out in two American League All-Star plays. He is not a favorite son candidate for 1964's Golden Glove award.

But Old Stone Fingers is first in the hearts of a couple of countrymen.

When Big Stu batted in the sixth inning of Boston's 5-0 victory over Washington Friday night, some of the Fenway Park faithful hoisted a banner proclaiming: "Dick Stuart, greatest American since Ted Williams."

Whereupon the patriot hit his second two-run homer of the evening and boosted his league-leading RBI figure to 77.

RATTLE FENCES
Stuart may not be this nation's answer to the Red Menace. He doesn't even expect to hit 400 this year (current batting average .264). But, like former Red Sox great Williams, he can rattle those friendly Fenway Park fences.

The National League alumnus' second homer was his 22nd of the season and sixth in five games, beginning last Monday against the Senators. Stuart has driven in 14 runs during the spurt and appears certain to top his 1963 league-leading total of 118 RBI.

6 HOMERS IN WEEK

He hit homers Monday and Tuesday, then a pair of three-run shots against Chicago Wednesday. The White Sox stopped him Thursday but he found the range again Friday night against Washington starter Al Kooch and the circuits helped Bill Monbouquette breeze to his fifth victory.

Monbouquette didn't need much help. He fired a six-hitter for his second straight shutout—one of three turned in by American League pitchers.

Baltimore's Robin Roberts blanked Detroit 5-0 while Fred Newman and Bob Lee combined for the Los Angeles Angels' 1-0 decision over Minnesota. Chicago's Gary Peters tossed a three-hitter as the White Sox trimmed Kansas City 6-1 and the New York Yankees clubbed Cleveland 8-4.

25-Lap Finale Is Won By Osgood

MECHANICSBURG, Pa. (AP)—For a man who claimed he didn't know how to drive the track, Brian Osgood of Elmira, N.Y., looked mighty good Friday night.

Osgood won his first feature of the year at the Williams Grove Speedway in the 25-lap finale for modified stock cars.

The lead changed four times before Osgood moved in front on the 24th lap and sped under the checkered flag one and a half lengths ahead of Bob Gerhart of Lebanon. His time was 13:10.4. Johnny Debonof, last week's feature winner from Lewistown, was third.

PHILS DEFEAT CINCINNATI ON COSTLY ERROR

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
It didn't take Don Pavletich too long to make a mark for himself.

Less than an inning, in fact. The mark, however, was a red face resulting from a rare and costly error that helped first-place Philadelphia edge Cincinnati 5-4 Friday night and move one game ahead of San Francisco in the National League race.

Pavletich played with Cincinnati last season but was assigned to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League this year. Thanks to an injury to John Edwards, the Reds' regular catcher, Pavletich battled his way back to the majors.

WALKED IN 7TH
He made his first appearance Friday night, walking as a pinch hitter for starting catcher Hal Smith in the seventh inning. Then came his 1964 catching debut in the eighth.

Pinch hitter Danny Cater opened the inning with a single. With Costen Shockley at bat, Pavletich tossed the ball back to pitcher Bill Henry. The ball, however, went astray, landing behind the reliever. Before anyone could recover it, Cater raced to second.

Shockley grounded out, sending Cater to third from where he scored on Clay Dalrymple's squeeze bunt.

ALERT BASE RUNNING
The run seemed somewhat harmless at the time, as it gave the Phils a 5-3 lead. But Vada Pinson homered for the Reds' final run in the eighth.

Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch credited Cater with alert base running on the play, but Reds' Manager Fred Hutchinson undoubtedly had another way of saying it.

The Giants also had some error trouble in losing to Houston 5-2. Los Angeles nipped Chicago 3-2 and St. Louis trimmed New York 9-8 in other National League games. Rain washed out a doubleheader between Pittsburgh and Milwaukee.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Williamsport Mets spoiled Springfield's big night at home Friday, trouncing the Eastern League leaders, 5-2, on a pair of home runs and 1-0 on a six-hit pitching performance by Bunky Warren.

In other league action Friday fifth place York lost its seventh in a row, falling to Elmira, 5-0, and Charleston ended a six-game losing streak defeating Reading, 7-0.

The largest crowd of the season, 6,221—possibly lured by gifts to some fans—turned out at Springfield, only to see the Giants lose the pair to the last place Mets.

Back to back home runs by Bill Haas and Ron Swoboda in the sixth inning were the crushing blows in the first game.

PITCHER'S DUEL
In the second game Warren and Roger Sinner locked up in a pitchers' duel that went eight innings before Phil Boyce's bases-loaded sacrifice fly scored the winning run. Sinner gave up nine hits.

At Charleston, George Culver gave up only five hits as he pitched his third shutout this season. The victory was his ninth against six defeats. Springfield collected just seven hits, but four were for extra bases.

Lefty Howie Stethers pitched the other shutout, Elmira's 5-0 conquest of the White Roses. The victory was his fifth in 10 decisions. Stethers at one time retired 12 straight batters and another time got to six straight batters.

WINS BOUT ON HIS UPPERCUTS

NEW YORK (AP)—The up-percut, a punch rarely used these days, apparently has earned clever Johnny Bizzarro of Erie, Pa., a shot at the lightweight title.

The 25-year-old, Italian-born Pennsylvanian shook Frankie Narvaez with a right uppercut in the third round and floored him in the ninth with another in gaining a unanimous decision in 10 rounds over the 12-5 favored lightweight contender from New York Friday night.

This reversed a split decision loss to Narvaez in the same Madison Square Garden ring six weeks ago and ended the squat New Yorker's 2½ year unbeaten streak at 15.

Erie promoter Don Elbaum said he had offered a $40,000 guarantee to lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz for a title defense against Bizzarro and that Bill Daly, Ortiz' adviser, had accepted. Ortiz said the price and opponent was okay with him.

The three officials had Bizzarro ahead by these scores: referee Johnny LoBianco, 5-4-1; judge Frank Forbes, 7-2-1 and judge Tony Castellano, 5-4-1. The Associated Press had Bizzarro in front, 6-4.

The Rifles continued to hold a tight second place as they held off a seventh inning rally and defeated the Rebels 4-1, Friday afternoon.

Dor Carr and Rich Sanders bolted the Rifles into their victory on the strength of a trio of safeties. The duo belted identical home runs, triples and singles.

Sanders also went the distance on the hill allowing but six scattered hits.

FOUR SEEDED PLAYERS LEFT IN SEMIFINALS

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (AP)—Call it luck of the draw, call it fate, or call it sound promotion.

Anyway you look at it, today's semifinal round at the 54th annual National Clay Court tennis championships finds the first four seeded men players left from the original field of 64.

And all four players including top-seeded Chuck McKinley, are members of the victorious 1963 Davis Cup squad.

Even in the women's ranks, second-seeded Carole Caldwell Graebner are still left. Miss Richey of Dallas, will face fourth seeded Judy Alvarez in one semifinal match.

DEFEATS YOUTH
Mrs. Graebner won her semifinal bout against 15-year-old Peaches Bartkowitz Friday, 6-2, 6-0.

McKinley showed the crowd why he is ranked No. 1 nationally in a hard fought four-set triumph over sixth-seeded Charles Pasarell of San Turce, Puerto Rico, 12-10, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Froehling, who tackles McKinley today, found India's Premjit Lall a "very tough customer" Friday. It took five sets to win—7-5, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Marty Riessen, local favorite from Northwestern University, clash in the other semifinal.

MUSICIAN AND CLERK CLASH
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bill McDonald of Topeka, Kan., a 5-foot-7 130-pound music major at Washburn University, and Dean Wilson, a 31-year-old Omaha postal clerk, tangle Saturday in the 36-hole match play finals of the National Public Links golf tournament.

In 101 holes of match play so far, Wilson is eight over par for the wooded 6,593 yard Francis Gross course which carries a par of 35-35-70. McDonald, 20, whose badly blistered feet required a doctor's attention, is 12 over for 104 holes.

Both shot some of their finest golf in Friday's scheduled 36-hole semifinals in searing 95-degree heat.

Wilson, five up after 27 holes, held off a tremendous rally by 20-year-old Norwegian-born Arne Dokka of Sherman Oaks, Calif., to win on the 38th hole.

The 5-foot-10 McDonald blew down 6-foot-7 Yates Adams of High Point, N.C., 8 and 6. The unorthodox Adams under-clubbed his approaches consistently and lost his creeping-up putting touch.

Farmers Can Afford To Feed Wheat In Swine Rations If Price Continues To Tumble

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

Prospects for the lowest wheat prices in several years may make more wheat available for feeding purposes. Wheat makes an excellent replacement for corn in swine rations, and, in most cases, hogs prefer wheat over corn. It can be fed to make up 90 per cent of the ration for growing and finishing swine.

Thomas E. Piper

Wheat is worth about five per cent more than corn in hog rations. If wheat prices drop lower than corn prices, it would be more economical to feed wheat than corn. In most cases hogs will do a better job of balancing their own ration if self-fed wheat free choice with supplement than they will with corn. If wheat is ground, it should be coarsely ground since a fine grind results in a less palatable feed.

BARLEY SUBSTITUTE

Barley at harvest is usually a good buy and an economical replacements with wheat or barley in place of all or part of the corn should be supplemented with high quality protein supplements. This should be fed at the same level as used when corn makes up the grain portion of the ration.

Your county extension office has replacement tables that show when wheat or barley become better buys than corn.

GOOD SOIL SAMPLES

Accurate soil test results depend upon taking representative soil samples. In order to get a representative sample follow these suggestions:

Use the proper sampling tool. For securing equal amounts of soil to a definite depth at each sampling spot, use a soil probe, or auger. If you are careful while taking samples a shovel or spade may be used.

When sampling, keep out of unusual areas. Avoid sampling areas near trees, old fence rows, or low spots in the field. Also, samples should not be taken from sites of old manure piles, lime and fertilizer spill areas or other areas which have received different treatment from the rest of the field.

Fields in cultivation should be sampled to a depth of 8-10 inches and permanent pastures to a

A complete Electronic Data Processing record system is available to Adams County dairymen through the Cooperative Extension Service at the Pennsylvania State University. The system gives each dairyman a complete, individual cow and total herd management program at a glance.

Some of the information furnished to dairymen through the Electronic Data Processed records includes:

OTHER QUESTIONS

How much milk each cow in the herd produced per day, per month and year to date. How much feed each cow received per day and how much she would have received.

How much money each cow made or lost for the dairyman. How old each cow is and how long she has been at the job of producing milk this lactation.

These items are just a sample of the information data processing can give each dairyman who is on the Penn State DHIA-FT Program, or production records combined electronically with forage testing data.

The cost to the dairyman is $8 per cow, per year. The return is reported over $100 per cow, per year, and even more if the dairyman uses his records to cull the loafers from his herd.

If you are interested in investing $8 per cow in your herd to make $100, call the Adams County Extension Office for more detailed information.

SUMMER HELP NEEDS TIPS ON FARM SAFETY

Every summer thousands of high school and college students hire out as farm help.

All too often these young men, although living in small towns in rural areas, have no real farming experience. They know little of any farm hazards. To them, running farm machinery may be little different from driving a car.

Certainly, much of farm work requires a minimum of instruction. Physical condition is important, but most young men of high school and college age are already in pretty good shape.

But they may not know, when they first hire on, such things as the proper way to lift heavy and bulky loads with the legs, not the back, or how to pitch hay to the top of a wagon without developing back trouble.

It takes but a few minutes to show a new hand the right and safe way to perform whatever tasks he will do with muscles and simple hand tools.

If he is to operate power equipment, more pains must be taken with his instruction. Inexperienced operators are most frequently the victims of power accidents.

RECOGNIZE HAZARDS

The tractor is involved in most farm power mishaps. Usually the machine upsets. Every operator should be able to recognize the hazards and avoid them. The National Safety Council has these tips:

The tractor is designed for power, not for speed. It does its job most efficiently when operated slowly.

When going to or from the field, go slowly. A hidden bump or ditch struck at too high a speed can flip the machine over.

Take the tractor on roads only when you have to. Keep out of traffic — a tractor cannot keep up with high-speed cars and trucks.

Working the side of a slope requires extra caution. A hole, bump or quick turn can roll the tractor over. Don't try to farm a slope that is too steep.

Climb a steep grade in reverse to prevent any chance of a backward upset. Don't try to handle a heavy load going down such a hill — and keep the machine in gear.

Pull only from the drawbar. A load hitched to the axle or seat bracket can pull the tractor over backward.

When pulling a really heavy load, add front-end weight to keep the tractor balanced. If the wheels stick in a ditch or deep mudhole — get help. With a tractor, something is going to turn when power is applied. If the wheels can't, the rest of the tractor will.

PREMIER NAMES SIXTH CABINET

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Hayato Ikeda named today his sixth Cabinet since becoming head of Japan's government four years ago.

He named Etsusaburo Shiina, 66, a newcomer in the field of diplomacy, to replace Masayoshi Ohira as foreign minister.

Ikeda's fifth Cabinet resigned earlier today in accordance with custom following his re-election as president of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party. His re-election a week ago assured him another two years as premier.

The Cabinet reshuffle was not expected to bring any major changes in Japan's foreign or domestic policy.

Subscriber Laments Loss Of Ma Bell's Cheery Aid

Every day, in numerous ways, old-fashioned telephone operators are missed more and more.

Gone are such conveniences as the friendly conversations with the local operator, the pertinent information not listed in the telephone book, and the invaluable assistance of the lady at the switchboard when a neighbor moved.

The most recent blow is by far the most stunning.

DIRECT DIALING

Subscribers who failed to heed the advice of the telephone company that "as of July 5 the direct dial number will be —" are out of luck if they want to make a long distance call. And they can receive this information only upon request from the business office, who will mail a new one.

This is small consolation if you want to make a call right now. But that's the price the subscriber will pay for his carelessness.

An experience such as this is enough to make almost anyone revert to carrier pigeons and smoke signals. It isn't as though the cost of telephone service has been peeled to a bare minimum or that the few operators on duty go out of their way to be friendly and helpful. None of these things exist. The cost climbs steadily. Furthermore, the subscriber needs to be a mathematician, engineer and clairvoyant in order to use the instrument.

MAJOR SHOCK

The dial system of several years ago was the first major shock to subscribers who had relied on the telephone operator for information not listed in the book, and shortly thereafter made the acquaintance of the recorded voice which repeats the same admonition to all careless users. There is no point in arguing, for "the voice" is impervious to pleas, arguments and threats.

The subscriber with a problem gets little more sympathy from the "live" operator than he receives from the recording.

One particular subscriber needed to make an urgent call Sunday afternoon and found a dead line when he dialed the long-distance number he has used for the past several years. Finally, in desperation, he called the operator to ask assistance.

He was told to use the direct-distance code. He replied that he had. He then was told that the number was changed on July 5. He asked for the new number and was told that it had been mailed to him several weeks ago.

"DON'T HAVE IT"

"But I don't have it and I need to make this call," he pleaded.

"Sorry," was the answer. "You'll have to request another notice from the business office."

Everyone knows the business office is closed on Sunday. Everyone also knows that it will take another two days to get a new number.

So he drove to Harrisburg to deliver the message.

Play Experience Is Vital To Maturity Of Children

By HELEN D. TUNISON
Extension Home Economist

Playing isn't wasting time. It's providing children with valuable experiences and skills for living. Children need play for strong, healthy physical and emotional growth. The learn from play and also from the companionship of other children their own age.

Play of the young child is often thought to be of value only to keep him out from underfoot. Helpful as it is to keep him occupied at times, there is more to play than that. A child learns skills through play. Everything is hit or miss when he first plays with blocks. Then, he becomes more skilled, he builds with them.

Play is an outlet for creativity and self-expression. Crayons, fingerpaints, clay and blocks provide opportunities for the child to express his feelings. He also expresses himself through his imaginative dramatic play, although to adults it may seem only that the child is dressing up in grown-up clothes.

The value of play with other children is the basis of learning to get along with people. It is also the way children learn sportsmanship and team spirit, she adds.

OUTDOOR MENUS

Whether you use a simple charcoal fire or a sophisticated charcoal burner for cooking outdoors, be sure the meal is simple and easy to prepare.

Also plan your menu to meet protein, vitamin, mineral and calorie needs of each family member.

You can use many forms of meat, fish and poultry in outdoor cookery. Use tender cuts for the grill or rotisserie; less tender cuts for moist cookery, such as package meals wrapped in foil. For a hearty one-package meal, add several vegetables, such as slices of summer squash or zucchini, potato wedges, tomato halves and a few small onions to chunks of meat. Form a well-sealed package of aluminum foil and cook over the coals about 60 minutes. If you wish, eat the cooked meat directly from the foil package.

Hearty soups make good picnic fare. Combine several canned vegetables and meat chunks in a hearty pot and simmer over the coals. Frozen vegetables, such as broccoli or peas, may be wrapped in foil and cooked until done. Corn has a special flavor if you roast it in its own husks.

Fruit leads itself to outdoor meal preparation and eating. Try fruit kabobs. Place pineapple cubes, orange chunks, banana slices and apple portions alternately on a skewer. Grill over coals long enough to heat fruit.

BICYCLE ACCIDENTS

Bicycle accidents send a half million children to the hospital or family physician each year. Although not all these accidents are fatal, they can ruin the summer for a child and his parents.

Boys have more bicycles than girls. Last year in the United States eight million boys needed some type of minor attention after a bicycle accident. Five million girls needed similar attention.

Boys in the Fourth through Sixth Grades are the most likely candidates for a serious accident that involves a visit to a physician or a hospital.

You can help your child prevent a bicycle accident. First, be sure

It's not too early to start planning for making pickles and relishes. For recipes to turn these vegetables into pickled products that truly add zest to a meal, you'll want a new U.S. Department bulletin, "Making Pickles and Relishes at Home."

This bulletin gives specific directions for selecting and preparing pickling ingredients and for processing pickles and relishes. Included are basic recipes for the old-time favorites, such as brined dill pickles, pickled peaches, piccalilli and sauerkraut; and for the newer fresh-pack or quick-process dills, sweet gherkins, cross-cut pickle slices and dilled green beans. Spices in these basic recipes can be increased or decreased, of course, to please your family's tastes.

Single copies of "Making Pickles and Relishes at Home" (HG-92) are available from the extension office.

Girl With An Eye Ailment Drowns

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 13-year-old Philadelphia girl, afflicted with an eye ailment, drowned Friday when she slipped from a rock into the water of a prohibited bathing area.

The victim, Roberta Michael, and her eight-year-old brother, Russell, were given 50 cents each by their mother for admission to a swimming pool. The children spent the money on candy and pop and then decided to go swimming at the prohibited area, Russell told police.

He said that he and Roberta were climbing a rock when the girl lost her footing and plunged 15 feet into the water below. Russell clambered down the rock and extended a tree branch to his sister, but she failed to grasp it and sank.

SEEKS HIKE IN OVERTIME PAY TO BOOST JOBS

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz takes new statistics to Congress next week to back up the administration's request for legislation to raise overtime pay rates in an effort to spread out jobs.

Wirtz will cite to members of the House Labor Committee figures showing that the number of overtime hours worked last month was at an all-time high.

"We had 5 million out of work last week and 16 million worked overtime," Wirtz said in announcing the record factory overtime figure of 3.2 hours per week.

EYE 900,000

A Labor Department spokesman estimates that if all overtime could be translated into new full-time jobs, 900,000 would be created.

The administration bill would boost overtime pay from time and one-half to double time in certain industries to encourage the hiring of new workers.

The greatest difficulty in creating new employment through discouraging overtime is that unemployment is concentrated heavily among unskilled, uneducated workers, while overtime work is largely in skilled trades.

The proposed bill would increase the "penalty rate" for overtime only in industries where it is determined that there is both considerable overtime and unemployment among workers who could handle the jobs available.

ARMED FORCES LIKELY TO GET PAY INCREASE

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prompt Senate approval of faster envelopes for nearly two million persons in the nation's armed forces appeared likely today.

If the House, as expected, agrees to details of the pending Senate bill, the pay boosts could become effective either in August or September.

The annual cost would be $207 million.

The measure calls for monthly increases ranging from $4.30 for top generals and admirals down to $3 for privates and apprentice seamen.

These represent an increase of 2½ per cent in base pay for all commissioned and warrant officers and identical boosts for all noncommissioned officers and enlisted personnel with more than two years service.

LARGER BOOST

A larger boost of 8½ per cent in base pay would go to commissioned and warrant officers with less than two years service. This would amount to $19 more monthly for a second lieutenant, $22 for a first lieutenant, $28 for a captain and $34 for a major.

The increases were unanimously recommended to the Senate by its Armed Services Committee shortly after the Senate approved a $558 million pay increase for 1.7 million federal civilian employees and officials.

In addition to the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, the increases would apply to the Coast Guard, Public Health Service and the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

DEATH CLAIMS ERIE BISHOP AT AGE OF 64

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Most Rev. Edward P. McManaman, 64, auxiliary bishop of the Erie Roman Catholic Diocese, died today in a Philadelphia hospital where he had lain in critical condition for nearly two weeks.

Bishop McManaman of Oil City, was rushed to Graduate Hospital on July 6 after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage at a Philadelphia hotel. He had been visiting with relatives here when he was stricken.

Bishop McManaman, a native of Wilkes-Barre, had been auxiliary bishop of the Erie Diocese since 1948 after serving 12 years as pastor of St. Peter's Cathedral in Erie.

He was born May 3, 1900, and attended St. Thomas School in his native Wilkes-Barre. Later he attended St. Thomas College, now known as the University of Scranton.

In 1923 he was graduated from St. Bonaventure College in Olean, N.Y., and was sent by Archbishop John Mark Gannon to American College in Rome to complete his studies.

He was ordained on March 12, 1927 in Rome.

The Most Rev. McManaman earned a licentiate degree in sacred theology before returning to the United States.

He served as assistant pastor of St. Francis parish in Clearfield, and later as assistant superintendent of Erie Diocesan schools until he was named rector of St. Peter's in Erie in 1936.

On July 27, 1948, he was named titular bishop of Florida and an auxiliary bishop to Bishop Gannon.

Since 1948 he has also served as pastor of St. Joseph's in Oil City.

Services will be held in Erie, but other details were not immediately known.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service has announced three new research projects into how cigarette smoke affects living tissue.

The studies involve areas in which the surgeon general's advisory committee on smoking and health indicated more information was needed. The committee said in a report last January that cigarette smoking was harmful to health.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry said Thursday that the National Cancer Institute had awarded more than $300,000 to support these studies:

GOLF COURSE PURCHASED BY 4 BROTHERS

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (AP)—Four Montgomery County brothers have purchased the Valley Forge Golf Club for $2.25 million from the Peter E. B. Kir-sopp Estate.

In announcing the purchase Friday, Moe Henry Hankin, one of the brothers, said his group intends to maintain the property as a golf course "for the time being."

"We plan to maintain it as a green belt and develop it with the township's cooperation and permission," said Hankin, an attorney and president of the Hankin Realty Co.

He referred to Upper Merion Township.

OTHERS NAMED

Others named in the purchase of the 137-acre golf course were Dr. Samuel Hankin, Max Hankin, Perch Hankin and Benjamin R. Shanken, a Montgomery County attorney.

The course is located between Routes 202 and 23, near the Valley Forge Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Dr. Samuel Hankin, was named president of the golf course with the three other brothers and Shanken serving as officers of the board.

The Hankin brothers were born in the Willow Grove area and worked their way through college by caddyng.

TOWING CABLE TRAPS COUPLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A man and his wife spent 2½ hours on a tug-towed barge in the Atlantic Ocean Friday and the Coast Guard called their experience "one of the weirdest mishaps in a long time."

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Steward of Coventry, Conn., were chugging along aboard their cabin cruiser in dense fog 10 miles off the eastern tip of Long Island when they found themselves between a tug and its barge.

The towing cable caught the bow of their 30-foot cruiser and lifted it from the water. As the boat slid back toward the barge, the stern started shipping water.

The couple clambered along the tow rope to the barge, where they sat until the fog cleared and they could signal the tug. Their cruiser had disappeared. Only some mattresses and other cabin equipment were found.

A Coast Guard cutter rescued the couple.

Jack Lopinson Is Refused Bail

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jack Lopinson, 27, charged with killing his wife, Judith, 25, and his restaurant partner, Joseph Malito, 52, last June 19, was refused bail Friday.

Judge Leo Weinrott rejected a petition for Lopinson's release after hearing one Commonwealth witness. The judge said the district attorney's office had made out a prima facie case at an inquest earlier this week.

CARPENTER IS INJURED ON MOTOR BIKE

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter has become the second member of the U.S. space team to be hospitalized by earth accidents after making successful orbital flights with nothing more than a slight scratch.

Carpenter received a compound fracture of his lower left arm when he lost control of a motor bike he was riding early Thursday on a gravel road near Hamilton, Bermuda.

John Glenn, the first U.S. astronaut to make an orbital flight, still is under treatment for injuries received when he fell in a bathroom in Columbus, Ohio, early last spring.

Capt. George F. Bond of the Navy Medical Corps in Bermuda said Carpenter's injury knocked him out of an opportunity of becoming the first human to explore the two most hostile environments known to man—outer space and an ocean bed.

Bond is in charge of psychological and physiological research phases of Project Sea Lab which the Navy launched off Bermuda July 6. Since then divers have spent as much as eight hours a day exploring the ocean bed while operating from a 40-foot lab lowered to a depth of 192 feet.

Carpenter, a Navy lieutenant commander, had volunteered for the project and was to have spent next week, the final week of the project, operating from the lab with four Navy divers.

Bond said Carpenter, however, definitely will participate in future Sea Lab tests.

Carpenter was hospitalized at the U.S. naval station in Hamilton and was reported resting comfortably.

The manned spacecraft center announced a special plane will bring Carpenter from Bermuda to Houston Saturday.

SEEK AID FOR ASTRONAUTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Space Agency says it is looking into two projects to assist astronauts on the moon: A mobile laboratory and a "lunar hopper" for short flights.

These are among 32 projects being studied for possible use after Apollo spacecraft land the first astronauts on the moon.

Parallel studies of the mobile moon laboratory, or Molab, have been ordered from the Boeing Co., Seattle, and the Bendix Corp., Ann Arbor, Mich., under contracts of $800,000 each.

The Molab would permit the men to work in shirtsleeves and would have an air-locked exit so moon explorers could go out in space suits and gather soil and rock samples. It would be landed on the moon by a modified version of the lunar excursion

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The first American foreign missionary society had its beginning in a haystack one hot August afternoon during a thunder shower. The place was Williams College, in Massachusetts, and the year 1806.

John Mills as leader of a group of first year students with a devout interest in religion had gone for a walk with four companions. As they were discussing the "plight of the poor heathen" in Asia, a sudden shower came up and they found shelter in a nearby haystack. There they continued their discussion and prayer.

Mills' father was a minister and his pious mother once said of her son, "I have consecrated this child to the service of God as a missionary." He resolved that afternoon that the five would take the message of Christ to non-Christians throughout the world. Out of that solemn dedication came the organization in 1810 of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions which is now part of The United Church Board for World Ministries.

Today a monument marks the site where the "haystack prayer meeting" prompted the faith of five young college students to action.

MILAN, Italy (AP)—The trial of 91 persons charged with separatist terrorism in the Alto Adige area — South Tyrol — of northern Italy ended Thursday night with the conviction of 71 and the acquittal of 20.

The eight-month trial followed a summer of violence in 1961 blamed on German-speaking residents of the former Austrian area seeking greater autonomy. Italy won the area after World War I, but an Austrian nationalist movement has continued.

Those convicted were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 3 years to 23 years and 10 months.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

WHAT'S IN A NAME? In recent years, developments in skin care products have added new words to our beauty vocabulary.

lary. We hear them and use them, but do we really know what they mean?

By boning up, some of us might find better ways to enhance the skin and to curb the aging process.

- Allantoin—a healing agent, very soothing to the skin.
- Emollients—oil-rich lubricating creams and fluids.
- Foaming Cleansers—creamy, fluid washes with no soap or detergent content.
- Humectants—mainly derived from glycerin and fatty acid esters. Use helps to keep the skin moisturized and dewy.
- Hypo-allergenic—a connotation for formulas that omit ingredients known to irritate allergy-prone skin.

- Lipids—a fatty element, derived from cotton-seed oil and sesame oil, which aids the penetration of emollients.
- Lanolin — purified wool fat and closely allied to the skins own sebaceous oil. It has protective and penetrating powers.
- Medicated—a broad term for products with antibacterial and healing action. By law, labels must list ingredients. Common ones are hexachlorophene, colloidal sulfur, camphor, zinc oxide, resorcinol.
- pH Factor—a symbol denoting acidity or alkalinity. Products with the factor aim to normalize both dry and oil conditions.
- Polyunsaturates—fatty acids, natural components of the skin lost through severe dieting and advancing age. External applications "plump" the skin.
- Vitamin A, D E—work as a team. Vitamin A combats dryness; D and E help in the absorption of A.

U. S. IS URGED TO OVERTHROW CASTRO REIGN

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars is urging the United States to bring about the overthrow of the Cuban government.

The state group, meeting in Pittsburgh, passed a resolution Thursday which urged the United States to:

"Initiate and take all measures necessary to bring about the overthrow of the Cuban government which threatens the military security of the United States."

Another resolution passed unanimously condemns student travel to Cuba and says it must be halted "even to the extent of loss of citizenship" because, the resolution says, students return to this country only to spread Communist propaganda they pick up.

NATIONAL CONVENTION

Pennsylvania delegates will take the resolutions to the national VFW convention in Cleveland next month.

Another resolution adopted Thursday says the Joint-Chiefs-of-Staff should come forward and tell President Johnson "that the U. S. should intensify its military effort in Viet Nam to carry on full scale engagement in that country that we may have an ultimate victory and a defeat of Communism."

Other resolutions supported: "An amendment to the Constitution which would permit prayer and Bible reading in our public schools on a voluntary non-obligatory basis."

ENDS SATURDAY

The establishment of a standing committee on veteran affairs in the U. S. Senate. Letters will be sent to Pennsylvania Senators Joseph Clark and Hugh Scott to determine their position on the proposal.

A 5,000-man, two-hour parade was conducted Friday evening in downtown Pittsburgh. The convention winds up today.

MILLER CLAIMS HE'S IN RACE TO BUILD 'REASON'

By BARRY SCHWEID
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—William E. Miller, a New York congressman who planned to quit politics this year, says he is running for vice president to help "re-establish reason in government."

"To be asked to join with millions of fellow citizens in a nationwide crusade . . . is no less than a thrilling experience," the peppery campaigner said Thursday night as he accepted second place on the Republican ticket.

WELCOME CHALLENGE

Flanked by his wife and two daughters, Miller declared:

"My family and I here pledge ourselves to you that we shall devote our hearts and our hands, our energies, and our abilities, and our spirit and our enthusiasm to this greatest challenge of my lifetime."

There was a lack of partisanship in the acceptance speech of the 50-year-old lawyer from Olcott, N.Y., who has built his reputation on sharpshooting at Democrats. Rather, there were expressions of humility and love, tributes to Barry Goldwater and Dwight D. Eisenhower and what appeared to be a beckoning to supporters of civil rights legislation.

SUPPORTS CIVIL RIGHTS

Unlike Sen. Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, Miller supported the Civil Rights Act. And, in his acceptance speech, he said:

"I love the people of the United States—200 million strong, devoted to God, consecrated to liberty, and all crusaders for justice, all crusaders for equality of opportunity for every person on the face of this earth."

Of Goldwater, Miller said: "I want the record unmistakably clear, I vastly respect and admire the courage, the integrity, the selfless commitment to principle of one of the most dynamic and forceful leaders in all our nation's history."

And of Eisenhower, the last Republican to reside in the White House, Miller said, "His inspiration and his example guide us still."

A Roman Catholic and a graduate of Notre Dame University, Miller provides political balance to Goldwater's Episcopalian religion and Arizona background. The Miller nomination was offered by Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, duly seconded and unanimously approved.

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — Two American Methodist clergymen have been ordered to leave Southern Rhodesia by July 22.

Andy Williams Is Enjoying His Top Ratings Now But Expects Harder Work

Polished emceeing is only one of the facets that have won Andy Williams (right) his following. Andy, shown here kidding with Peter Lawford, continues tops in the recording field, has also just signed a fat new contract with NBC.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

It sure must have taken some elbow-twisting. But there's cause for rejoicing over at NBC . . . out and around the land as well.

Andy Williams has signed to do more than twice as many programs this coming season as he did last; 26 full hours in full color, Monday at 8 p.m. starting in October.

It was a different story last winter as far as the suave, singing, emcee was concerned.

"Twelve programs a year are enough for now. We work very hard to get that easy look . . . this is creative stuff.

LOVES TELEVISION

"I do love television; and intend to keep doing it. But I also want to do more movies and keep up some club dates. Those big audiences at last summer's tour certainly made you feel good."

"Besides, though I'm certainly no 'handy Andy' around the house (except for presiding over steaks) I do want to spend more time in my own home with my family."

Besides which he was understandably miffed.

He settled back in his Plaza Hotel Suite overlooking New York's Central Park and lighted a thin cigar.

"Sure, my ratings are great right now. But ratings alone shouldn't determine whether a show is on more often or entirely off. New shows deserve a chance to build, too."

REMEMBERS LAST YEAR

Obviously he was remembering the year before. The polished nonchalant Williams' emceeing and stylish singing had won him the top Emmy Award and a batch of other "Best Male Vocalist," "Most Popular Personality" type citations. Yet . . . because ratings had not yet reached "block-buster" — the "to be or not to be" sign dangled like the swprd-of-you-know what.

Luckily the light turned green on what turned out to be the glory road. Each show has been better than the one before it . . . and the first one was simply great.

But now that the elbow-twisting is over, it just means Andy — who's been working since he was eight — is going to be working even harder than ever.

SERIOUS ABOUT MOVIES

For one thing, he's serious about movies. Feels the time is ripe for a return to the "frothy, polished, elegant kind of comedy everybody but Cary Grant has been neglecting for too long."

Though he didn't get the girl in his full-length feature, "I'd Rather Be Rich," he loved the role. "Very rich character," he grins in his own unfussy elegant way.

Though what he finds to envy about a "very rich" character, one begins to wonder. There are all those best selling recordings. And . . . "Yes, it's true, I do have apartment buildings, stuff like that. After all, my father's in the real estate business."

WILLIAMS BROTHERS

Though the Williams Brothers broke up as an act a dozen years ago with Andy alone choosing show business they are a closely knit family as you can see for yourself on Andy's Christmas shows.

The performing had all started by accident anyway.

Because the church in their Iowa town had no choir, the boys' father volunteered one staffed entirely of Williamses: Himself, Momma, Bob, Dick, Don and Andy. After that it was radio engagements wherever (Continued on Page 4)

CHIMES SILENCED

The famed three-note NBC chimes were originally seven and cost $48.50 37 years ago. Originally announcers banged the actual chimes at station breaks with varying results so the total was reduced to three (the notes, G, E and C). Then the chimes were electrified. Finally, for TV, the sound was eliminated and the chimes made "visible" instead.

PICK NAME OF IDOL

Rudy Vallee started life with the given name of Hubert, acquired the "Rudy" as a nickname because of his admiration for saxophonist Rudy Wiedoft.

PLAUDITS FOR MASSEY

Raymond "Dr. Gillespie" Massey accepted awards for both himself and Richard "Dr. Kildare" Chamberlain from the American Medical Association during their San Francisco annual convention. This marks the first time the AMA has paid official tribute to a TV-medical drama series. Chamberlain was cited "for inspiring many youths to seek careers in medicine," and Massey for his "warm and human characterization." Also cited was NBC "for furthering public understanding of the medical profession and the practice of medicine."

WRIST-SIZE TV?

Frank Marx, president of ABC Engineers, says any wild guess about television is very apt to come true . . . and that it's highly possible some day a wrist-watch-size portable television received may become actual.

Andy Williams

they lived in the midwest (Des Moines, Chicago) and in California when they migrated there. Then came the big time; six years of international touring with comedienne Kay Thompson.

As the other boys married, they wanted to "stay put in one place."

FRENCH WIFE

Andy himself married only two and a half years ago, but his French wife, Claudine Longet, is very much in tune with show business.

"She went to a most unusual school in Paris. They studied ballet by day, worked in straight theater productions in the evenings.

"But unlike most French girls she couldn't cook, didn't even know how to empty an ash tray until we got our house in Beverly Hills.

"Now she's doing very well with food. Makes a wonderful French veal dish with wine sauce and a layer of spinach. She hasn't tried baking yet. The Dutch oven we had built into the kitchen is for steaks... yes for me to do."

DAUGHTER NOELLE

Then he got the talk out of the kitchen and into the nursery. "Claudine is going to be a wonderful mother," was his lyrical compliment. And his infant daughter Noelle is, naturally the world's most enchanting child except "We were so sure it would be a boy that the only name we'd even thought about was Pascal."

But in TV musical variety the name to reckon with remains the same.

Andy Williams.

QUOTABLE

"Unless the newsmen gets accused of favoring both sides, he's in trouble," says NBC re-prter, zfrank McGee. He adds, "A newsmen in any medium has no business being partisan during working hours."

TRUE BLUE

Sportscaster Bob Wolff and his wife were both Navy lieutenants at the time of their marriage. She was a nurse.

BONANZA IN PANAMA

"Bonanza" and its tales of frontier days on the Ponderosa keeps gaining in popularity. Latest to renew was Circuito RPE in Panama.

"MISSING LINKS"

"I'm a celebrity corraler-er" says Leni Landorf, talent coordinator of "Missing Links." It takes "nerve" to start, she says. Then she switches to tact, persistence and patience.

TENTH FOR DIZZY

Baseball Hall of Fame member, Jay Hanna "Dizzy" Dean is now in his tenth season as play-by-play commentator for "Baseball Game of the Week."

NOT TYPE-CAST

Though he learned to ride when he was three and spends every free moment at his Oklahoma ranch, Robert Reed was once turned down for a cowboy role because "he's not the type." Though he didn't study law he did find his niche as co-star of "The Defenders."

ADDS UP

Veteran actor John Gibson (Joe Pollock on "The Edge of Night") has done more than 10,000 broadcasts since 1930.

"BLACK" LIGHT

The "black" light transmitting system which gives two extra channels for NBC convention-floor use consists of a transmitter which sends out ultra-violet light rays in all directions.

Shipping Of Explosives To Be Tightly Regulated

HARRISBURG (AP) — Efforts are underway in Pennsylvania to tighten regulations governing the transportation of explosives over state highways in the wake of a truck explosion which killed six persons.

Proposed new regulations were adopted Friday by the Industrial Board of the state Labor and Industry Department and sent to the state Justice Department for approval.

The proposals also must be filed with the Commonwealth Department and the Legislative Reference Bureau before they can take effect.

SERIES OF MEETINGS

John Curtin Jr., deputy secretary of labor and industry, said the regulations grew out of a series of meetings with state police, the Bureau of Traffic Safety, and departmental technicians.

On June 26, six persons were killed when a truckload of blasting material exploded in Marshalls Creek, Monroe County.

The new regulations would require notification of state police on any shipment involving five tons or more of explosives.

The time and route of such transportation would be required.

OTHER AMENDMENTS

Other amendments include:

—A ban on smoking in or about any vehicle used for the transportation of explosives, whether loaded or unloaded.

—Signs on each side of vehicles transporting explosives, three inches high, marked "explosives." Transporting explosives under false or deceptive markings would be unlawful.

—The driver must remain with an explosive-bearing vehicle in the event of emergency stopping. Vehicle may not stop on any traveled portion of a highway, nor on the shoulder. Flares must be placed 300 feet from the stopped vehicle.

—All shipments of explosives must be transported without unnecessary delay, be unloaded immediately upon arrival at destination. No vehicle may be used for storage of explosives.
